

BEN C. BRODHEAD

Brodhead Law, LLC

BAD FAITH LAWYER OF THE YEAR USA

ABOUT BEN C. BRODHEAD

Ben Brodhead is an honors graduate of Harvard Law School and has been a leader in the field of catastrophic injury and wrongful death litigation for more than twenty years. After graduating from Harvard, Ben was employed in the corporate litigation department of Paul, Hastings, Janofsky & Walker and worked on complex business litigation matters for several Fortune 500 companies.

In 1998, Ben founded Brodhead Law, a successful personal injury firm dedicated to representing victims of catastrophic injury and wrongful death. Brodhead Law's primary focus is on insurance bad-faith and trucking litigation, fields in which the firm has recovered more than $100,000,000 for its clients across the country. Through a comprehensive understanding of insurance as well as state and federal trucking industry regulations, Brodhead Law achieves the maximum recovery available for its clients by holding the insurance and trucking industries accountable. Ben also is a regular speaker at seminars on topics including insurance bad faith, trucking litigation, and more.

Brodhead Law's success is based on the following clear principles: provide hard work, sophisticated strategies, and ample resources to recover the highest possible value for each client and each referring attorney. The firm's success also relies on the team of legal professionals that it has built to handle the most complex issues with the highest level of skill, innovation, and customer service.
